Packing of Parcels for Soldiers at the Front

The public is urged to exercise every care in packing parcels for the troops, as careful packing is absolutely essential to insure delivery of the parcels in good order.

Parcels sent abroad require a higher standard of packing than is necessary in the Canadian parcel post, and this applies with even greater force to parcels for the troops. Those which are inadequately packed run great risk of damage or loss of contents.

This cardboard boxes, such as shoe boxes and tin wooden boxes should not be used; nor does a single sheet of ordinary brown paper afford sufficient protection. The following forms of packing are recommended:

1. Strong double cardboard boxes, preferably those made of corrugated cardboard, and having lids which completely enclose the sides of the boxes.
2. Strong wooden boxes.
3. Several folds of stout packing paper.
4. Additional security is afforded by an outer covering of linen, oil or canvas, which should be securely sewn up.

The address of the parcel should be written in ink on the cover preferably in two places.

The address of the sender of the parcel should also be stated in order that it may be returned if undeliverable. The contents of the parcel should be stated in writing on the cover.

In the case of parcels sent to the Mediterranean Force, they should be very strongly packed. They should be as nearly round as possible, and well padded with slavings, crumpled paper, or similar protective material. The outer covering should consist of strong linen, cotton or canvas, and should be securely sewn up. The use of wooden or metal boxes with square corners is undesirable, as parcels so packed are liable to injure other parcels in transit. No perishable articles should be sent, and anything likely to become soft or sticky, such as candles, should be enclosed in this. Parcels merely wrapped in paper or packed in thin cardboard boxes, such as shoe boxes, cannot be accepted.

Pioneer Dies at the Home of His Son

On Sunday last one of this vicinity's oldest settlers passed away, when Mr. Chapman, better known to the Claresholm people as "Dad," succumbed at the home of his son Edward, which is fourteen miles east of town. The deceased came from Petrolia, Ontario, where he was formerly a gold digger. Since his arrival here in 1897, he has been a very successful farmer and much respected in this vicinity.

Claresholm Branch of Canadian Patriotic Fund

The following are the receipts for the year commencing September 1, 1915.

Ladies' Patriotic Aid, proceeds of Tea and Dinners, Oct. 21 $ 84.35
Ladies' Patriotic Aid, proceeds of cake-giving contest 14.05

Arrangements are almost completed for the course of the Claresholm campaign, for the raising of funds.

Truth is the best defended when fool.

Goodness has one price to all—Sorrow.

Big successes are made up of little ones.

The only way to secure friends is to be one.

Difficulties often vanish when looked at closely.

Repentance is best tested by the fruit it produces.

The simplest facts are sometimes the profoundest mysteries.

Faith must work for its living in a busy world like this.

It is easier to see small sins far away than big ones nearer home.

There is no special sin in being rich, but there is in being mean.

"Crying in the wilderness" will not be in vain if a man has the truth on his side.

You will always find the true and the false over against each other. We must make our choice.

Sometimes a woman can't help feeling that the world is full of pickers and that she must most of them.

When a boy begins to plaster down his hair and borrow father's Sunday scarf pin, it's time to look for the girl in the case.

When the pessimist starts talking and moaning about Germany "stealing Russia off the map," advise him to look at the map.

If it is old doctors of the front we never allow to die. Probably it is because they have looked so often in to the jaws of death.

If you want to live in Claresholm without having enemies "say nothing, be nothing do nothing," and your chances are excellent for success.

Give your town all the praise it can legitimately bear. It will cost you nothing and above all patronize your home institutions—including the printing.

Unfortunately the fire of genius cannot always keep the pot boiling. With the approach of cold weather some fellows in Claresholm have to buy coal.

A New York dealer was caught painting the gills of state fish red to make them appear fresh. Ah, yes, some are deceivers. Some get it better put on and paint to make them better put on.

THE ARGUMENT

IN A NUTSHELL.

"Made-in-Canada" Idea in Controversial Form—Simple but Convincing Statement

A writer in the University Magazine for April attacks the "Made-in-Canada" movement in somewhat "fervent fashion. After commenting on the selfishness of those who are responsible for it he delivers into some commendable arguments, maintaining that if a country does not buy it cannot sell, and that goods are exchanged for goods. There is a certain measure of truth in the latter statement, but the "Made-in-Canada" argument does not deny this. It is a practical policy, dictated by motives of self-interest and not based on the theory that what is good for Canada and Canadians must be in the long run, be good for the British Empire, or which we term a pare. The "Made-in-Canada" argument is simply this:

Canada is a young country, which although it has one of the most moderate protective tariffs in the world, has built up a great industrial system. For a couple of years the output of this plant has decreased because the demand for manufactured goods has fallen off, with the result that many workers are out of employment and a great quantity of unused goods is stored in warehouses. Yet we are having hundreds of millions of dollars worth of manufactured goods shipped. Those who advocate the "Made-in-Canada" policy say to Canadian buyers: "Before you purchase an imported article see if you can find a similar Canadian article which would suit you. You will probably find it and you will find probably, too, that the quality and price compare favorably with the quality and price of the imported article. If you should discover in some cases that the Canadian article is not quite so good or quite so cheap as the imported article, ask yourself if your patronage will help in time to bring about a state of affairs where the Canadian article would be equal or superior to the imported article. Possibly, in view of the present extraordinary situation, you might concede a little in favor of the Canadian article, but we do not ask you to make any considerable sacrifice to do so. If thousands of Canadian buyers follow this policy, Canadian goods can be produced in such great quantities that their quality can be improved and their price lowered. Canadian material will be utilized, employment will be furnished at home, and our foreign obligations will be reduced."

A DOLLAR TALKS

Warrs its Owner Against Sending it Away—Pleas to be Kept at Home
"I am a dollar! A little awkward, perhaps, but still in circulation. I am proud of myself for being in circulation. I am no ten-cent dollar—worth 1. This town is only my adopted home, but I like it and hope to remain permanent. When I came out of the mint I was adopted into a town like this in another province. But, after a time, I was sent off to a big city, many miles away. I turned up in a male-order house. For several years I stayed in that city. Millionaires bought cigars with me. I didn't like that, for I believe in the plain people. Finally a travelling man brought me to this town and left me here. I was so glad to get back to a smaller town that I was determined to make a desperate effort to stay.
"One day a citizen of this town was about to send me back to that big city. I caught him looking over a mail-order catalogue. Suddenly I found my voice and said to him: 'Look here, if you'll let me stay in this town I'll circulate around and do you a lot of good. You buy a big breakfast with me, and the butcher will buy groceries, and the grocer will buy hardware, and the hardware man will pay his doctor bill with me, and the doctor will spend me with a farmer for oats to feed his horse with, and the farmer will buy some fresh meat from the butcher, who will come around to the dentist to get his tooth mended. In the long run, as you see, I'll be more useful to you here at home than if you send me away forever!'"

"The man said it was a mighty stiff argument. He hadn't looked at it in that light before, so he went. He bought the breakfast, and I began to circulate around home again."
The above article from "Country Life in Canada," for June, illustrates in a striking manner the argument for home town buying. The argument applies quite as strongly in the matter of "Made-in-Canada" purchasing. The best results for all concerned are secured by spending the dollar in one's own community. First, giving the preference, where possible, to articles made in the community, second, to "Made-in-Canada" articles, and third, where "Made-in-Canada" articles cannot be secured, preference should be given to the goods made within the Empire.
